ACTUARIAL SCIENCE

Actuarial Science is the study of uncertain future events and the use of mathematics, statistics and financial theory to measure the financial consequences of risk. Actuaries work in all sectors of the economy, like insurance companies, banks and the government sector. Actuarial Science students are required to sit for a series of professional examination papers and fulfill practical training requirements via a North American professional actuarial body to obtain their professional certification. Outstanding INTI students have received scholarships from Drake University, the University of Nebraska-Lincoln and other universities to pursue a degree in Actuarial Science.

Professional examination

Professional examination

Students sit for a series of professional examinations in order to qualify as a Certified Actuary. The American Society of Actuaries (SOA) requires candidates to complete five examinations, an e-learning course, VEE validation and a professionalism seminar in order to become an Associate (ASA).

To become a Fellow (FSA), a candidate needs to successfully complete all requirements for ASA, 2 more examinations and 2 more modules based on their specialty track. The American Casualty Actuarial Society (CAS) requires a series of 9 examinations for certification as a Fellow. The first 4 examinations of these 2 societies are identical.

For more information regarding professional examinations, log on to www.soa.org, www.casact.org or www.actuaries.org.my

Students may also apply for membership with the Malaysian Insurance Institute in order to enjoy special privileges and access to information and resources.

Popular majors/ partial list of majors available

BIOTECHNOLOGY

Biotechnology is a field of applied biology which uses living organisms such as plants, animals and microorganisms to make or modify products or processes for specific use. Some of its more commonly known terms are genetic engineering, artificial selection and hybridization. Biotechnology is widely used in medicine, engineering and agriculture fields to bring about improvements in food and medicines, treatments for diseases and even waste removal. There is also the emergence of "Industrial Biotechnology" with a growing market of products using biobased materials and production techniques in industrial applications.

Companies such as Toyota, Dow Chemical, Procter & Gamble, DuPont and Cargill are in various R&D stages, all vying to be ahead in this new branch of technology.

BIOINFORMATICS

Bioinformatics derives knowledge from computer analysis of biological data. It is highly interdisciplinary, using techniques and concepts from informatics, statistics, mathematics, chemistry, biochemistry, physics and linguistics. Thanks to massive yearly funding, America is the best place to obtain a degree in this study.

BIOCHEMISTRY

Biochemistry is the application of chemistry to the study of biological processes at the cellular and molecular level. Biochemists study the mechanisms of brain function, cellular multiplication and differentiation, communication within and between cells and organs, and the chemical bases of inheritance and disease.

POPULAR MAJORS

BIOCHEMISTRY

Decipher the structures and functions of proteins, carbohydrates, lipids, nucleic acids and other bio-molecules, the mechanisms of enzyme action, elucidation of metabolic pathways and their control, and the understanding of life processes through the laws of chemistry. It also include in-depth study of the molecular basis of genetics.

BIOMEDICAL SCIENCE

This study allows students to specialise in scientific areas related to the normal functions or diseases of humans. Learn how the body operates and gain an understanding of current medical research aimed at improving diagnosis, prevention and treatment of diseases.

BIOTECHNOLOGY

Involves the use of advanced genetic techniques to construct novel microbial, plant and animal strains, obtain site-directed mutants to improve the quantity or quality of products, or obtain other desired phenotypes. It spans a variety of activities, from optimisation of processes such as those involved in producing antibiotics, vaccines, monoclonal antibodies, and genetically engineered transgenic plants and animals, to carrying out gene therapy, improving water and land management, and remedying pollution.

FOOD SCIENCE

This subject involves the basic chemical, physical, biochemical and biophysical properties of foods and their constituents, and of the changes that these may undergo during handling, preservation, processing, storage, distribution and preparation for consumption. Activities include the development of new food products, design of processes to produce these foods, choice of packaging materials, shelf-life studies, sensory evaluation of the product with trained expert panels or potential consumers, as well as microbiological and chemical testing.

GENETICS

Genetics identifies the molecular, cellular, and organismal aspects of heredity in animals and plants. It also considers the hereditary mechanisms of micro-organisms, human hereditary disorders and DNA technology.

MICROBIOLOGY & IMMUNOLOGY

This subject involves the study of microscopic organisms such as bacteria, yeasts, moulds, viruses, rickettsia and protozoa. It also examines the diversity, structure, function, growth, reproduction, genetics, physiology, preservation and control of these micro-organisms. Mutation, gene mapping and structure, means of transferring genetic information and applications of genetic modifications and the study of the immune system in human and other organisms are also covered.

MOLECULAR BIOLOGY

The study of molecular foundations of living organisms, especially DNA; how it is used to define an organism, how genes are regulated, and how human beings are related to other organisms. Like Biochemistry, it underlies many aspects of genetic engineering, protein engineering, and other new approaches to improving upon nature.

NUTRITION

This examines the effects of food components on the metabolism, health, performance, and disease resistance of humans and animals. It also includes the study of human behaviour related to foods.

PRESTIGIOUS PARTNER UNIVERSITIES
